Prospective students must apply to the University through The Graduate School's online application platform. Please read these application instructions carefully and submit all supplemental materials listed below with your Graduate School application. Guidelines for preparing each of the supplemental materials are below. Please contact Dr. Jennifer Mortensen (mortensen@unr.edu) with any questions.

- _____ Graduate School online application
 - _____ Praxis CORE (or CBEST) score sheet
 - _____ Candidate Professional Behaviors and Dispositions Form
 - _____ Resume
 - _____ Personal Essay
 - _____ Letter(s) of Recommendation
 - _____ Unofficial transcripts

Before applying, prospective students must pass the Praxis Core Academic Skills exam in three areas: Reading, Writing, and Mathematics. Please visit ETS Praxis Nevada Testing Requirements to learn more about the testing requirements and registration. Students must receive a passing score in all three areas: Reading (156), Writing (162), and Mathematics (150).

Other Information:

- Nevada Department of Education – Testing Requirements
- The new Praxis Core test numbers are 5713 (Reading), 5723 (Writing), and 5733 (Mathematics)
- CBEST score sheets may be submitted as an alternative
- If you do not receive a passing score in one or more areas, please contact Dr. Mortensen.

Complete the Candidate Professional Behaviors and Dispositions Form at the end of this document.

Prepare a professional resume that highlights your education background, professional/educational experiences with children, additional work experiences, and any other skills, interests, notable experiences, awards (e.g., Dean's List), or community service.

Compose a 3 to 5 page essay entitled, "Qualities That I Bring to the Teaching Profession". This essay should be double-spaced with 1-inch margins and should use a 12-point font. The essay should address: 1) Amount and type of experience with children, 2) Beliefs about teaching and learning, 3) Strength of content-area knowledge (math, science, social studies, language arts).

Please upload your unofficial transcripts from your bachelor's degree and any courses you have taken since graduation.
